

+ Wider Cost Management Services

Overall business efficiency for less

By maximising efficiencies to be gained from any significant area of operational expense, organisations can achieve savings that translate directly into increased profitability.

Beaconplus has the expertise, the processes and the management experience to secure these savings for you.

Whatever your issue: business rates; rents; stationery; landlord/tenant relationship; logistics; buildings maintenance; contract management; bank charges; or any other significant operational expense, Beaconplus offers specialist services and project management to ensure the desired result.

What we do

Our comprehensive analysis and support process (PAIS) ensures that we fully understand your organisation in order to recommend the most appropriate solution for you.

The wider cost management arena demands excellent project management, co-ordinating the individual contributions of experts in their field. This might include specialists such as chartered surveyors, solicitors, chartered accountants or banking consultants. In these areas a 'one size fits all' approach cannot work to maximum advantage. The proposal must reflect your own particular circumstances and aspirations.

Our experienced consultants work together with you to develop a fully effective bespoke solution, addressing current costs, future development plans and ongoing service support needs.

Our recommendations must satisfy 3 key criteria:

- Reduce expenditure and management time
- Maintain or increase service levels
- Enhance efficiency

Once you're happy with our analysis and recommendations we really go to work for you.

Negotiating with suppliers on your behalf is a common element of our service, as are bill checking, cost monitoring and issue resolution. More specific examples include leading buildings maintenance contract negotiations with a supplier to a major Care Homes organisation, managing all aspects of landlords' services and costs, analysing the logistics infrastructure for a key manufacturing company, and managing successful rateable value appeals for a large proportion of our clients.

Whatever the solution we have the experience, the knowledge, the people and the contacts to get the job done.

In addition, our clients say we have both the tenacity and diligence to really get to the bottom of issues and make things happen, while still remaining 'nice people to work with'.

What you get is not only the identified savings and world class project management, but also peace of mind and time to spend on even more pressing matters.

"We feel Beaconplus are on our side. It's clearly because their offering is all about cost management and they are independent. They understand the minefield that the whole sector has become and take away the hassle factor. The original work on garaging costs worked extremely well for us"
